

Fig. 1

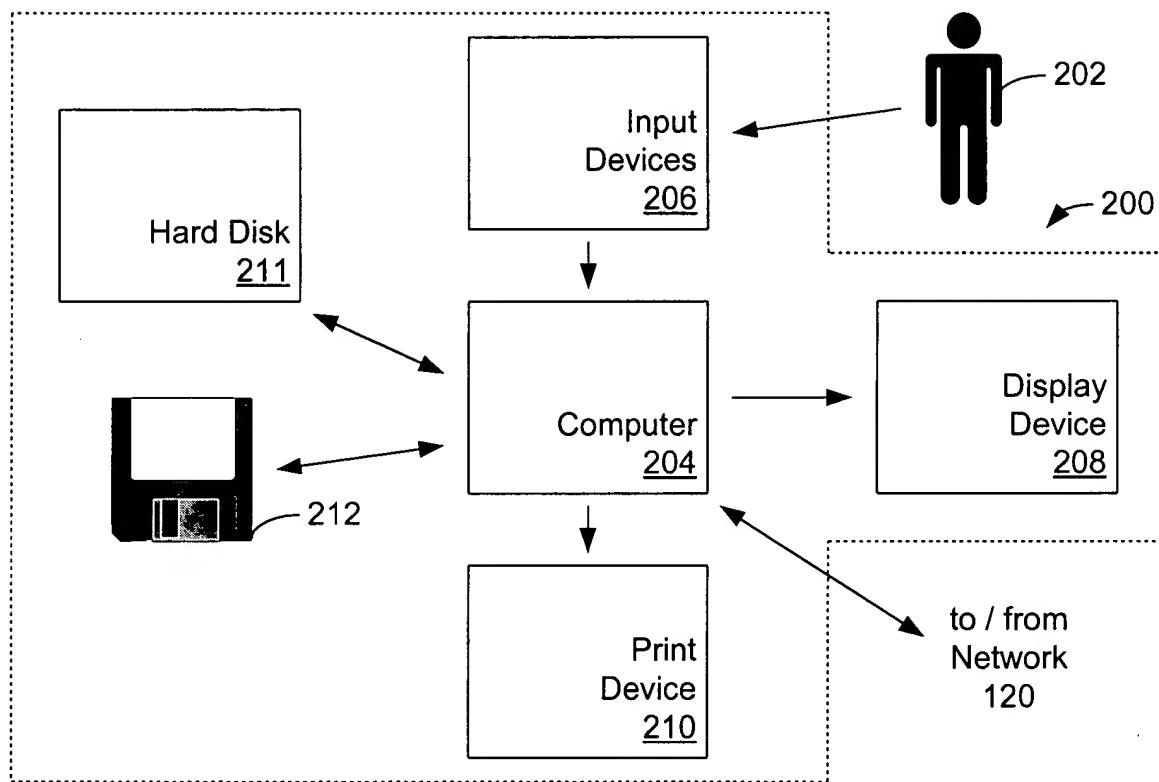

Fig. 2

The New York Times on the Web - Microsoft Internet Explorer

File Edit View Favorites Tools Help

Address http://www.nytimes.com/

The New York Times

5% Cash Back from selected online merchants

NYC Weather 41° F

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 2000 | Site Updated 4:20 PM

QUICK NAVIGATE

PAGE ONE PLUS
International
National/N.Y.
Politics
Business
Books
Technology
Science/Health
Sports
Weather
Opinion
Arts
Automobiles
Books
Career/Parks
Diversions
Living
Magazines
Photo Galleries
Real Estate
Travel
MARKETPLACE
NYT STORE
SITE INDEX

newscastday
Movies
Restaurants
Theater
Musics
Hotels
Shopping

Republican Hopefuls Trade Charges on Ads in Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, 12:00 P.M.

John McCain accused George W. Bush of running a campaign by "character assassination" in TV ads that Bush is running leading up to Tuesday's Michigan primary.

Go to Article

China Warns War Is Possible If Taiwan Delays Reunification

By ERIK ECKHOLM
NYT UPDATE, 2:40 P.M.

China warned Taiwan that it will not wait indefinitely for the island to reunite with the mainland, declaring that a prolonged lack of negotiations, in itself, could provoke a military attack.

Go to Article

LATINOS

Sen. Bill Bradley will debate Vice President Al Gore tonight at Harlem's historic Apollo Theater.

Go to Article

OBITUARY

Clifton Daniel, Former Managing Editor at The Times, Dies at 87 (12:05 p.m.)

SCIENCE

Endeavour Astronauts Solve Latch Problem (12:00 p.m.)

(AP)

Done

Internet

302

Fig. 3a (Prior Art)

Pepperony 1.0, by NewsStand.com

Front Pages News summary Arts Business Day Editorials International Metro National Sports Dining Education Red

The New York Times

"All the News That's Fit to Print"

VOL. CXLIX . No. 51,186 Copyright © 2000 The New York Times NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 2000 $1 beyond the greater New York metropolitan area 75 CENTS

HOUSE APPROVES EXPANSION OF TIES TO TAIWAN'S ARMY

BEIJING GIVES A WARNING

Despite Softening, Bill Is Seen as Potentially Damaging to Relations With China

By ERIC SCHMITT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 — The House voted overwhelmingly today to expand military ties between the United States and the Chinese, a move that China and the Clinton administration warned could aggravate regional tensions despite a separate trade agreement.

The bill, approved by a bipartisan vote of 241 to 70, calls for the United States to maintain closer military cooperation with both Hong Kong and Taiwan and, if possible, expand America's training of Taiwanese military officers and conduct annual reviews on their military readiness.

While the prior hours of the Taiwan Security Enhancement Act are more symbolic than substantive — American law has long given Congress the power to give Taiwan military aid for more than two decades — moving toward more formal military relations would be a significant diplomatic concession made with China.

ALBANY, Feb. 1 — The four white police officers accused of murdering Amadou Diallo, who had entered Mr. Diallo's Bronx apartment to collect his rent, learned today what will decide their fate.

In a hearing before a Bronx grand jury, which had been unable to reach a decision after nearly three hours of deliberation, the four officers were indicted on charges of second-degree manslaughter.

By JANE PRATCH

ALBANY, Feb. 1 — The four white police officers accused of murdering Amadou Diallo, who had entered his Bronx apartment to collect his rent, learned today what will decide their fate.

In a hearing before a Bronx grand jury, which had been unable to reach a decision after nearly three hours of deliberation,

McCAIN ROMPS IN FIRST PRIMARY; GORE WINS, EDGING OUT BRADLEY

TOUGH FIGHT AHEAD

Vice President Claims a Victory but Faces Key Contests in March

By ADAM CLYMER

MANCHESTER, N.H., Feb. 1 — Vice President Al Gore held off a strong challenge by former Senator Bill Bradley in the New Hampshire primary yesterday, but the race was never a long, tough fight for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Yesterday's tight result, despite a narrow margin for Mr. Gore, may indicate that voters expect a close election next year, given that Mr. Gore has to face the critical march of March when some three million party delegates to the Democratic national convention in Denver will be elected on the first two Tuesdays with a deadlocked fight ahead.

Mr. Bradley, in a quick-tempered speech, accused Mr. Gore of being a "coward" and "a liar." Mr. Gore without using the words victory or defeat, said, "We have made a remarkable turnaround, but there is still a long hard fight ahead."

Minutes later, Mr. Gore replied,

By RICHARD L. BERNSTEIN

MANCHESTER, N.H., Wednesday Feb. 2 — Neither John McCain nor Gov. George V. Bush finished in the New Hampshire primary yesterday, but to the small margin he won, Ronald Reagan defeated Mr. Bush's former 30 years ago.

"Thank you. Thank you. Thank you. Thank you," an elated Mr. McCain told a rancorous crowd of supporters last night as he embraced a victory that his administration in the time since has tried to downplay. Mr. Bush's once overwhelming landslide margin in the primaries.

Mr. McCain's triumph was partially due to the fact that a large number of voters Tuesday found it was best not only on a vote of independence but also on wife and deep support for the deficit Republicans where the Bush campaign considered its

303

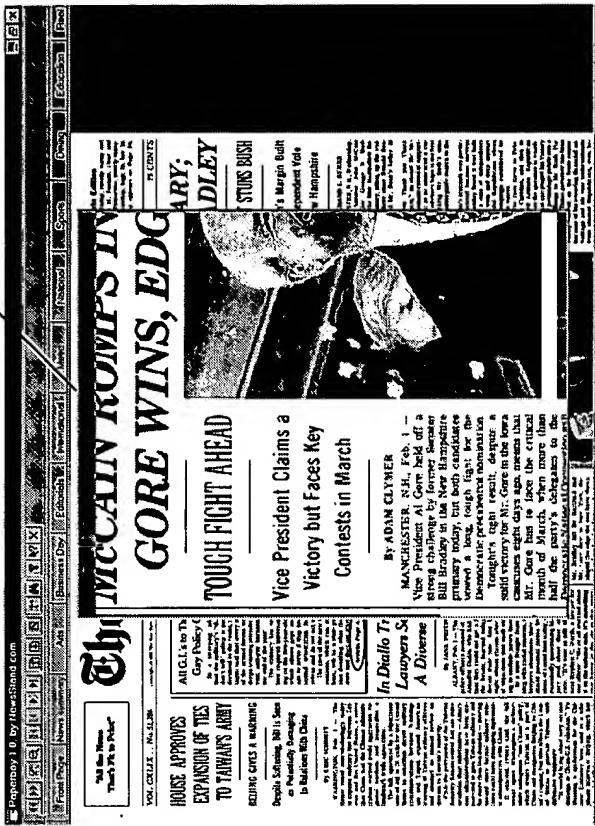

304

Fig. 3b

307a

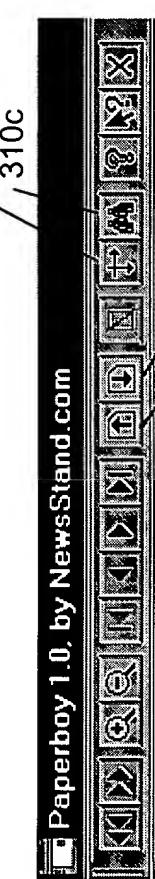

307b

306 → Fig. 3c

308 → Fig. 3d

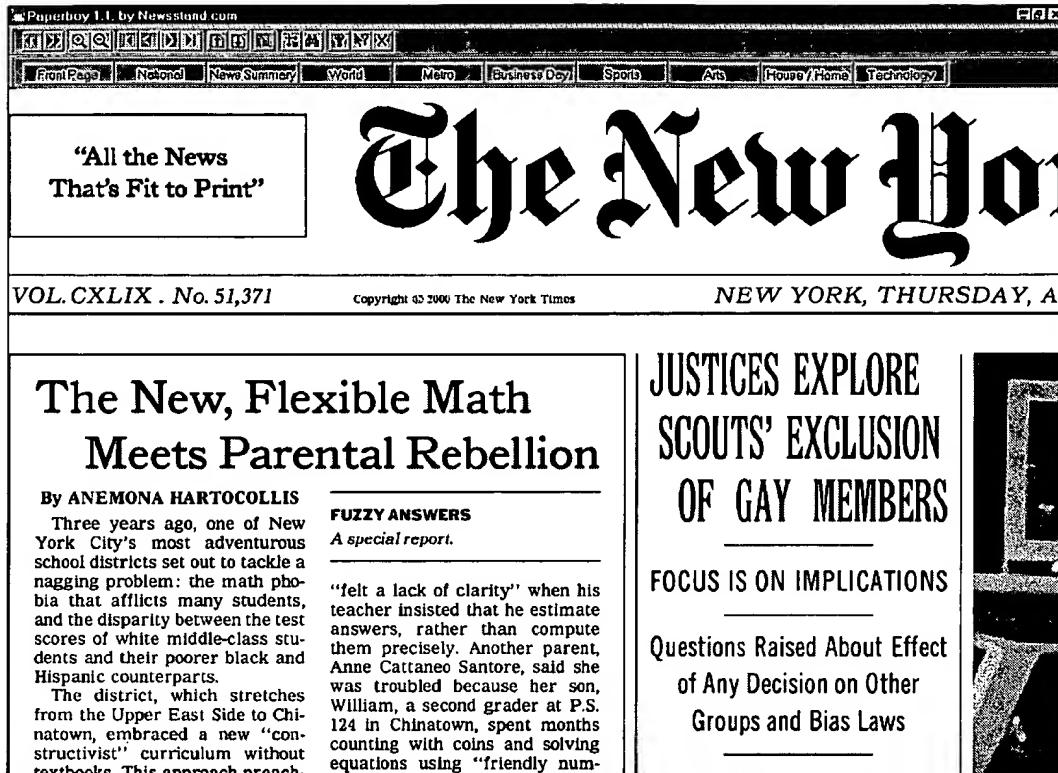

309 →

310b
310c

→ Show bottom half 311b
→ Show top half 311a

Fig. 3e

006903652 101600

Fig. 3g

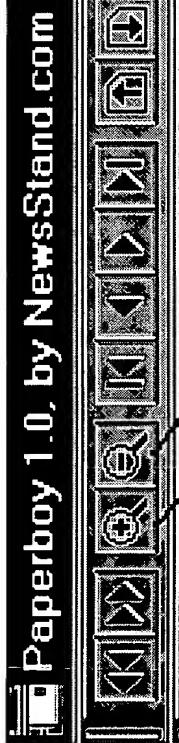

C O S T C O M P E C O O G E G

Fig. 3h
318 →

Fig. 3i
320 →

Paperboy 1.0, by NewsStand.com

Zoom out (smaller) 324
Zoom in (larger) 326

Fig. 3j

Digitized by srujanika@gmail.com

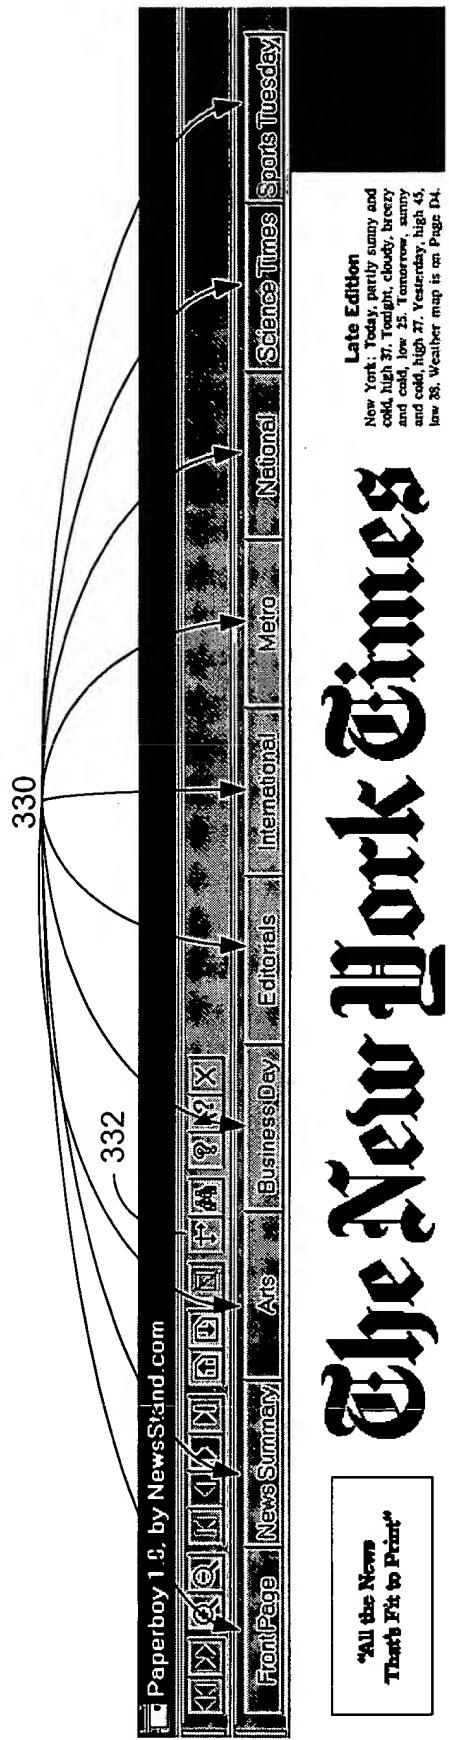

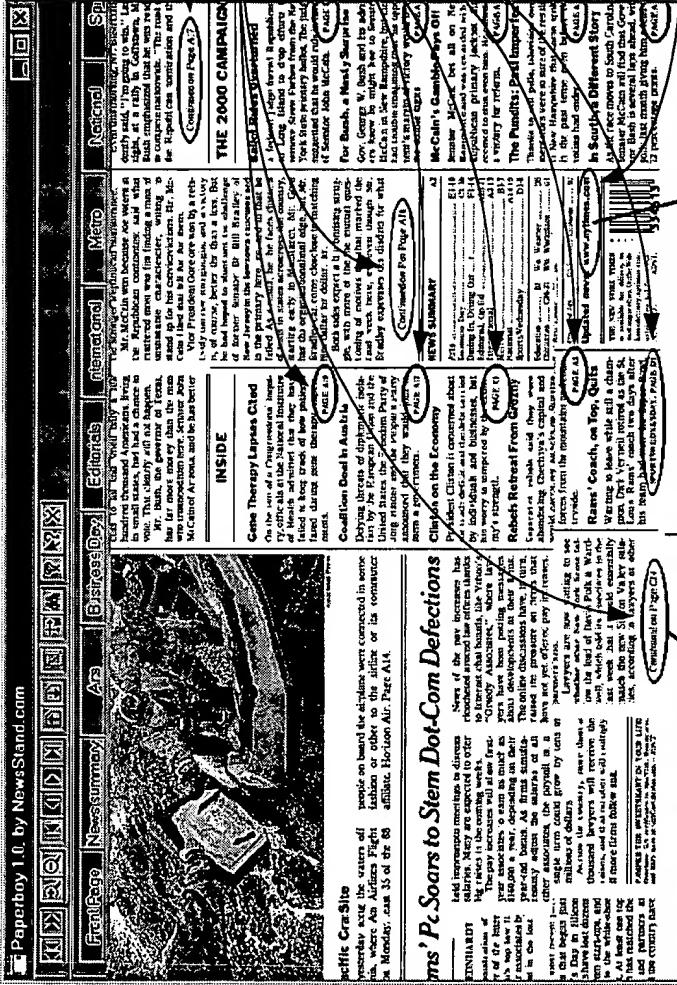

Fig. 3k

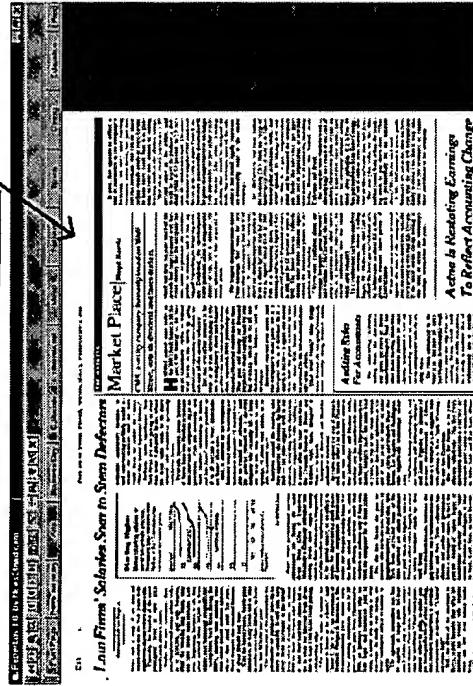

Paperboy 1.0 by NewsStand.com

334

340

342

३६

Fig. 3

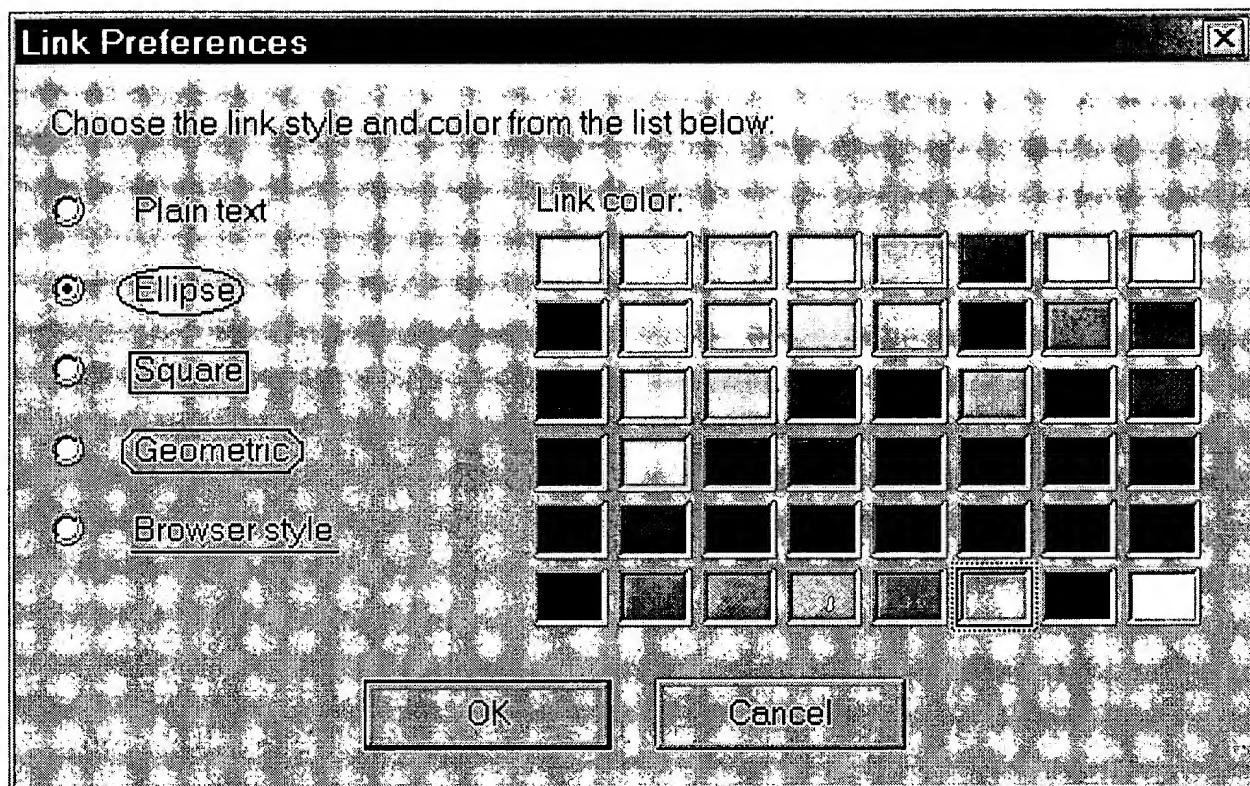

338

344 346

340

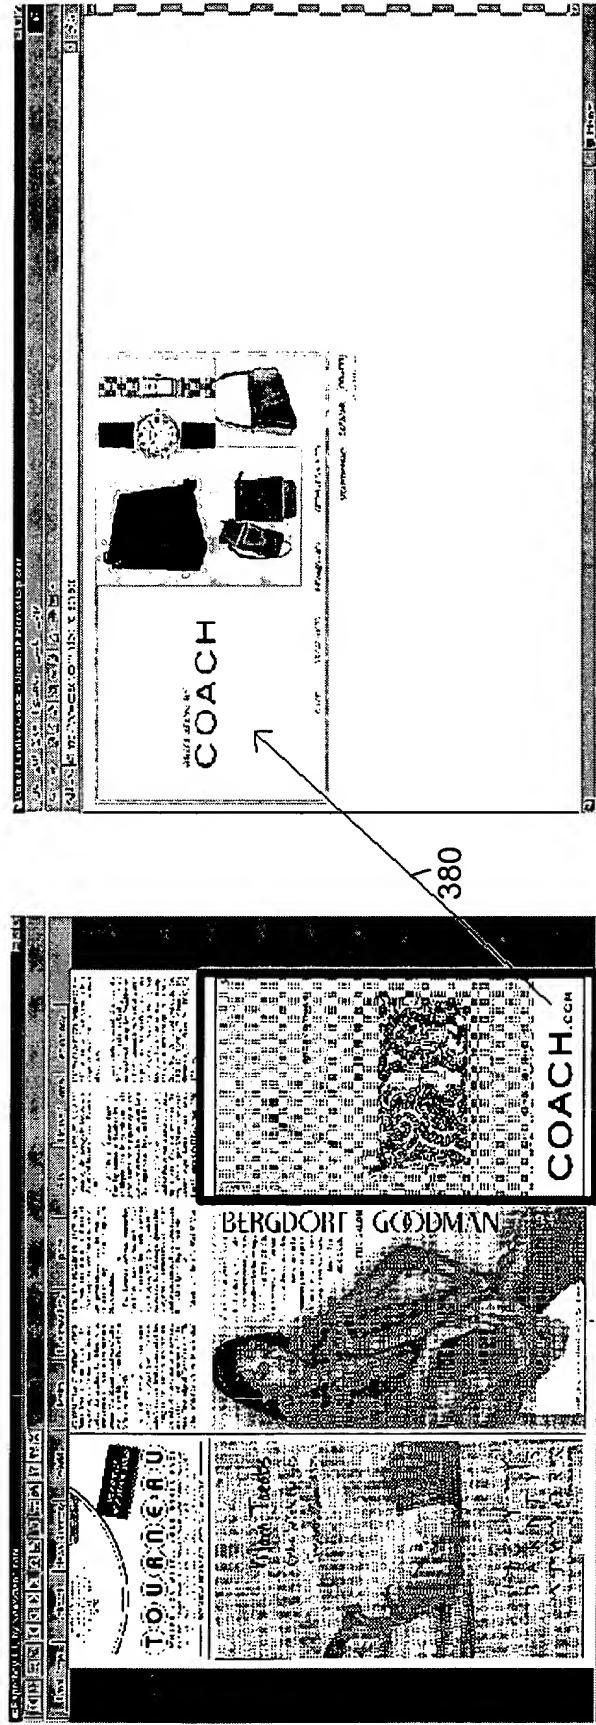

0 9 6 9 0 3 6 2 - 1 0 1 6 0 0

348 ↗

Fig. 3m

COACH - 2950624

380

376

378

374

Fig. 3n

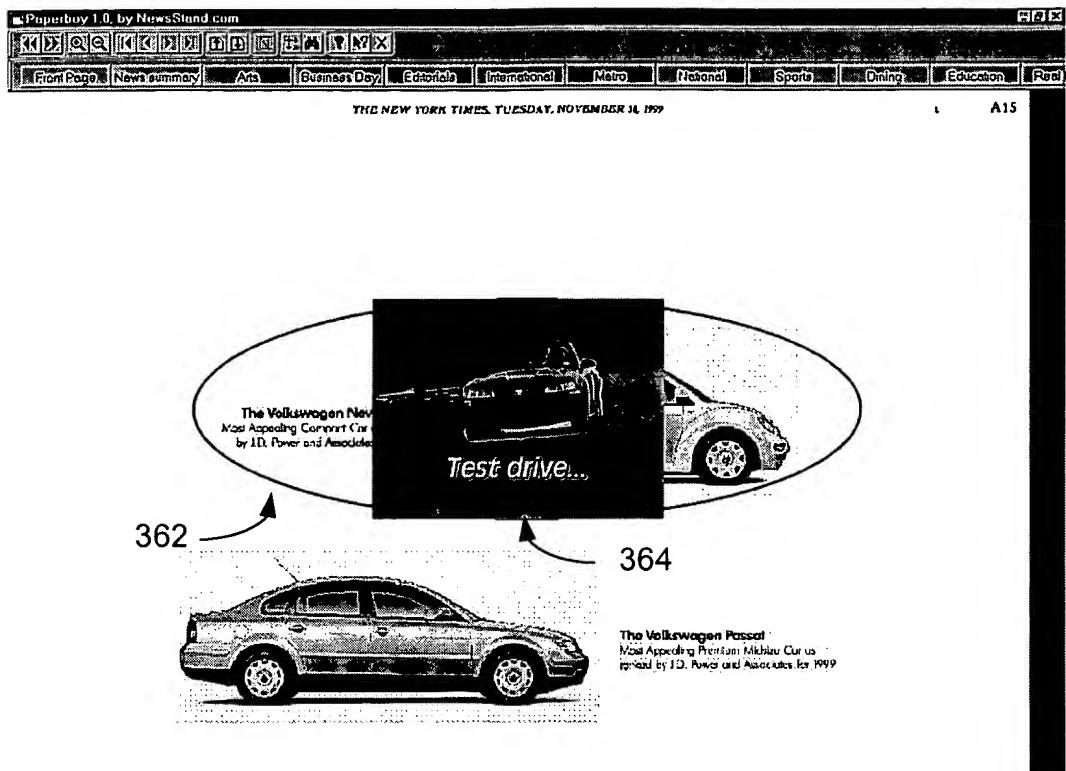

Fig. 3o

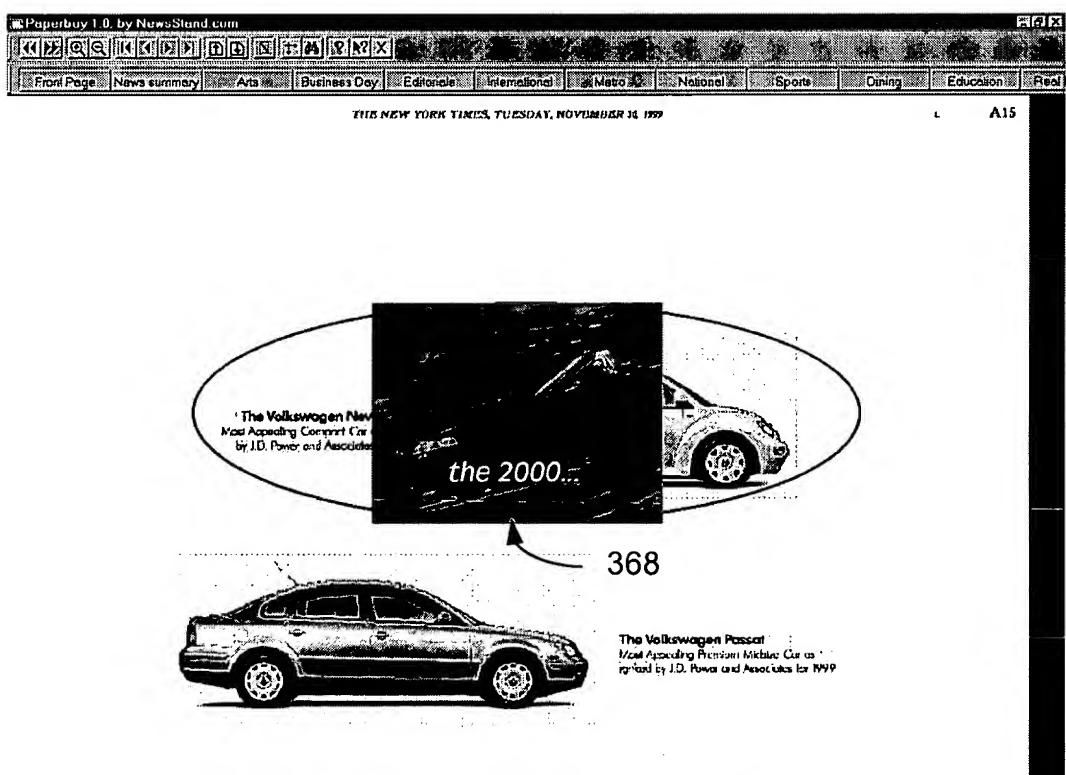

Fig. 3p

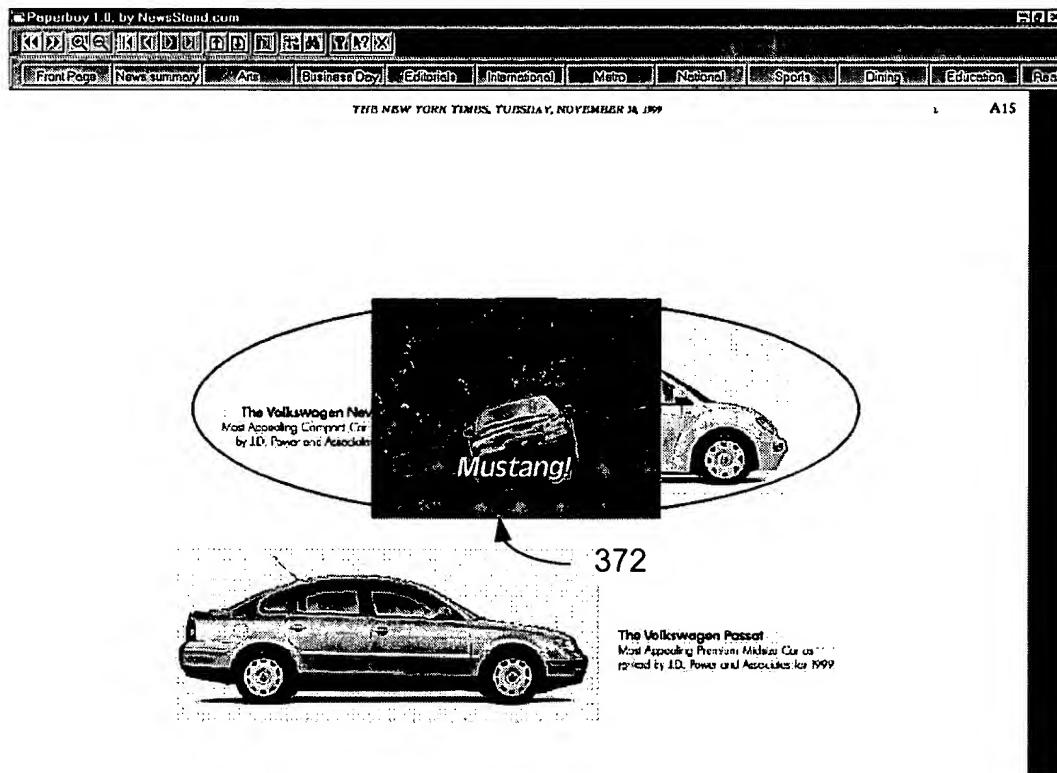

Fig. 3q

09690267-101500

Cartier

POW diamonds never set in 18K gold:
from $1,950. to $3,500.
18K gold chain: $1,250.
(Subject to show detail.)

The Cartier Building, Fifth Avenue at 52nd Street (212) 753-0111
Trump Town, Fifth Avenue of 50th Street (212) 300-0873
Madison Avenue at 65th Street (212) 479-6411
The Mall at Short Hills, Short Hills, New Jersey (973) 457-9005
For expert service, call 1-800-CARTIER

352

350

Fig. 3r

THE NEW YORK TIMES, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 2000

News SummaryINTERNATIONAL A3-13*House Votes to Expand Military Ties with Taiwan

The House voted overwhelmingly to expand military ties between Taiwan and the United States, a move that China and the Clinton administration warned could exacerbate regional tensions and jeopardize a landmark trade agreement.

Austrian Coalition Forms

The anti-immigrant Freedom Party of Jörg Haider and the People's Party, ignoring threats of diplomatic isolation by the European Union and the United States, said they would form a government.

Chechen Rebels Leave Capital

Separatist rebels said they were abandoning Grozny and would carry out attacks on Russian forces from the mountains and countryside.

Russian Leader Drops By

Acting President Vladimir V. Putin made a surprise appearance at a Middle East conference in Moscow attended by Secretary of State Madeleine K. Albright. Mr. Putin used the occasion to deliver his first foreign policy statement, making a pointed reference to the Clinton administration's desire to modify the major arms control treaty between the United States and Russia.

Trying to Save Ulster Peace

Britain, Ireland and the United States struggled to preserve the power-sharing government in Belfast after David Trimble, the first minister of the Northern Ireland Assembly, was shouting down the assembly. The crisis developed when the I.R.A. signalled its unwillingness to begin dis-

NATIONAL A14-20McCain Romps Over Bush; Gore Edges Out Bradley

Senator John McCain trounced Gov. George W. Bush in the New Hampshire Republican primary, defeating him by a margin far wider than anyone in either campaign had anticipated.

Vice President Al Gore held off a stiff challenge by Bill Bradley, but the narrow result seemed to point to a long, contentious fight for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Sensitivity Training for Military

Every member of the armed forces will have to undergo training by the end of the year to prevent anti-gay harassment, the Pentagon said, acknowledging that its "don't ask, don't tell, don't harass" policy was poorly understood in the ranks.

Defending C.I.A. Inquiry

The director of central intelligence, George J. Tenet, left, responding to reports about an internal inquiry involving a predecessor, John M. Deutch, said he took "decisive action" after receiving a finding that Mr. Deutch had mishandled classified documents.

Early Findings on Jet Crash

The Alaska Airlines MD-82 jet that plunged into the Pacific while trying to make an emergency landing at Los Angeles appears to have suffered a progressive failure of a control system at the tail that controls how the plane pitches up or down, according to a sketchy chronology by a

NEW YORK/REGION B1-7Bipartisan Jury is Chosen in Diallo Murder Trial

Four blacks and eight whites were impaneled as the jury that will hear the case against four white New York City police officers accused of murdering Amadou Diallo, a black African immigrant who was unarmed, in a hall of bullets.

Judge Keeps Forces on Ballot

A federal judge forced the Republican Party on Long Island to drop its effort to put Steve Forbes off the ballot and indicated that he would soon allow Senator John McCain to qualify across New York State.

Putting Sprinklers in Dorms

A New Jersey lawmaker and the Legislature would help pay to put sprinklers in every college dormitory, which could cost $300 million.

NEEDIEST CASES B2EDUCATION B3*Chancellor Seeks Funds

Harold O. Levy, in his first appearance before the Legislature as New York City's interim schools chancellor, asked for more money for the city's public schools.

SCIENCE/HEALTHComputing the Age of AIDS

Scientists at the Los Alamos National Laboratory said that using a new

QUOTATION OF THE DAY

"You can't help but be amazed by the size of this. It's across the board, came from all sectors."
JOHN McCAIN,
after winning George W. Bush
in New Hampshire. (A1)

BUSINESS DAY C1-30Battling for Legal Talent

Some of the nation's leading law firms, trying to attract and retain top talent who may be tempted by the lure of Internet companies, have raised pay for their executives by as much as 50 percent in the past week.

The increases will let first-year associates earn up to $160,000 a year, depending on year-end bonuses.

Clinton on the Economy

President Clinton said he was concerned about the growing trade deficit and about debts being carried by individuals and businesses, but that his worry was tempered by the strength that the economy derives from the budget surplus.

New Boss for GM

The General Motors Corporation is expected to announce on Wednesday that it will promote its president, G. Richard Wagner Jr., to chief executive as John F. Smith Jr. relinquishes that job.

Business Digest

C1

ARTS E1-10

THE WATCH YOU WEAR SAYS A LOT ABOUT YOU...

A. LANGE & SOHNE
The Lange J. in 18K gold with cushion dial, black leather strap, 35mm case, 35 mm wide silver dial.

A. Lange & Sohne takes the art of watchmaking to a new level of perfection.

SO DOES WHERE YOU BUY IT

WEMPE Since 1870
700 Fifth Avenue at 55th Street • New York, NY • 212.997.9000
Bank Card Credit Cards Cash Visa MasterCard

356

354

Fig. 3s

THE NEW YORK TIMES, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 2000

News SummaryINTERNATIONAL A3-13*House Votes to Expand Military Ties with Taiwan

The House voted overwhelmingly to expand military ties between Taiwan and the United States, a move that China and the Clinton administration warned could exacerbate regional tensions and jeopardize a landmark trade agreement.

Austrian Coalition Forms

The anti-immigrant Freedom Party of Jörg Haider and the People's Party, ignoring threats of diplomatic isolation by the European Union and the United States, said they would form a government.

Chechen Rebels Leave Capital

Separatist rebels said they were abandoning Grozny and would carry out attacks on Russian forces from the mountains and countryside.

Russian Leader Drops By

Acting President Vladimir V. Putin made a surprise appearance at a Middle East conference in Moscow attended by Secretary of State Madeleine K. Albright. Mr. Putin used the occasion to deliver his first foreign policy statement, making a pointed reference to the Clinton administration's desire to modify the major arms control treaty between the United States and Russia.

Trying to Save Ulster Peace

Britain, Ireland and the United States struggled to preserve the power-sharing government in Belfast after David Trimble, the first minister of the Northern Ireland Assembly, was shouting down the assembly. The crisis developed when the I.R.A. signalled its unwillingness to begin dis-

NATIONAL A14-20McCain Romps Over Bush; Gore Edges Out Bradley

Senator John McCain trounced Gov. George W. Bush in the New Hampshire Republican primary, defeating him by a margin far wider than anyone in either campaign had anticipated.

Vice President Al Gore held off a stiff challenge by Bill Bradley, but the narrow result seemed to point to a long, contentious fight for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Sensitivity Training for Military

Every member of the armed forces will have to undergo training by the end of the year to prevent anti-gay harassment, the Pentagon said, acknowledging that its "don't ask, don't tell, don't harass" policy was poorly understood in the ranks.

Defending C.I.A. Inquiry

The director of central intelligence, George J. Tenet, left, responding to reports about an internal inquiry involving a predecessor, John M. Deutch, said he took "decisive action" after receiving a finding that Mr. Deutch had mishandled classified documents.

Early Findings on Jet Crash

The Alaska Airlines MD-82 jet that plunged into the Pacific while trying to make an emergency landing at Los Angeles appears to have suffered a progressive failure of a control system at the tail that controls how the plane pitches up or down, according to a sketchy chronology by a

NEW YORK/REGION B1-7Bipartisan Jury is Chosen in Diallo Murder Trial

Four blacks and eight whites were impaneled as the jury that will hear the case against four white New York City police officers accused of murdering Amadou Diallo, a black African immigrant who was unarmed, in a hall of bullets.

Judge Keeps Forces on Ballot

A federal judge forced the Republican Party on Long Island to drop its effort to put Steve Forbes off the ballot and indicated that he would soon allow Senator John McCain to qualify across New York State.

NEEDIEST CASES B2EDUCATION B3*Chancellor Seeks Funds

Harold O. Levy, in his first appearance before the Legislature as New York City's interim schools chancellor, asked for more money for the city's public schools.

SCIENCE/HEALTHComputing the Age of AIDS

Scientists at the Los Alamos National Laboratory said that using a new

QUOTATION OF THE DAY

"You can't help but be amazed by the size of this. It's across the board, came from all sectors."
JOHN McCAIN,
after winning George W. Bush
in New Hampshire. (A1)

BUSINESS DAY C1-30Battling for Legal Talent

Some of the nation's leading law firms, trying to attract and retain top talent who may be tempted by the lure of Internet companies, have raised pay for their executives by as much as 50 percent in the past week.

The increases will let first-year associates earn up to $160,000 a year, depending on year-end bonuses.

Clinton on the Economy

President Clinton said he was concerned about the growing trade deficit and about debts being carried by individuals and businesses, but that his worry was tempered by the strength that the economy derives from the budget surplus.

New Boss for GM

The General Motors Corporation is expected to announce on Wednesday that it will promote its president, G. Richard Wagner Jr., to chief executive as John F. Smith Jr. relinquishes that job.

Business Digest

C1

ARTS E1-10

DIEGO DE LA TORRE

Crash raises safety questions about Marines' new aircraft

By Michelle Riebold
Associated Press

MARANA, Ariz. — A Marine Corps aircraft attempting to land during a night flight had both engines cut off and had to make an emergency landing northwest of Tucson, Ariz., Saturday night. All 19 aboard and clinging to a rickety harness for nearly 10 minutes before the aircraft taxied off and had to be hoisted.

The MV-22 Osprey, which looks like a giant helicopter, is part of a new generation of aircraft it is believed to eventually replace the Chinook and other heavy-lift transport helicopters. The military began flying the aircraft six months ago.

The crash occurred in Marana, about 15 miles southwest of Tucson, at night. The passengers were 14 Marines, two sailors and three Marines based at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and one from Marine Corps Air Station Yuma, located in La Paz County, according to the Marine Corps. None of the victims was killed.

On Sunday, investigators were examining the crash site at Marana Northwest Regional Airport, northwest of Tucson. Further details were released.

Capt. Gord Ward, who lives about five miles from the airport, said he watched the plane fly by from his porch. It disengaged behind a mountain, and he heard a "bang."

"I saw the smoke and the big old poof," she said.

The plane then landed, "but skidded the sky," she said. A lump of twisted, charred metal was visible in the snow, and several loose wires were scattered over a patch on the carpeted ground.

Witnesses reported hearing a loud noise, but had no time to stop and fly to land at the airport when a crash landed. It was one of two Chinooks that had been flying in the same time frame, similar to what Marines would do if they were removed from the flight deck or restricted in a specific country.

The mission was conducted with night vision goggles and infrared cameras and radars.

Firefighters and witnesses re-

19 die in crash

An MV-22 Osprey crashed in eastern Arizona Saturday night, killing 19 Marines.

Marine Lt. Mark Carter, spokesman for the Marine Corps Air Station in Yuma, where the flight originated, said:

"The aircraft was again taking passengers back to the Marine Corps base when it descended into a debris field in the mountains." The crash is again raising questions about the safety of the aircraft, which has been involved in a decade in the making.

President George Bush addressed the safety concerns of the project after it was widely criticized, but told reporters his administration had no role in the decision to fly the Osprey fighter jet under.

The Marine Corps lists nine other aircraft that have been lost in the aircraft's development. One, in 1991 in Nevada, was blamed on

Marine Capt. Gord Ward, who lives about five miles from the airport, said he watched the plane fly by from his porch. It disengaged behind a mountain, and he heard a "bang."

"I saw the smoke and the big old poof," she said.

The plane then landed, "but skidded the sky," she said. A lump of twisted, charred metal was visible in the snow, and several loose wires were scattered over a patch on the carpeted ground.

Witnesses reported hearing a loud noise, but had no time to stop and fly to land at the airport when a crash landed. It was one of two Chinooks that had been flying in the same time frame, similar to what Marines would do if they were removed from the flight deck or restricted in a specific country.

The mission was conducted with night vision goggles and infrared cameras and radars.

Firefighters and witnesses re-

Atmospheric Workers investigate the crash scene of a Marine Corps MV-22 Osprey at Marana Northwest Regional Airport, northwest of Tucson, Ariz. The crash occurred Saturday night.

Judge reprimands Marine convicted in March death

■ CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. — A Marine captain convicted of charges stemming from the heat-related death of a recruit was reprimanded Saturday and ordered to forfeit $5,000 in pay.

A military judge, Lt. Col. Ralph Kishimoto, found Capt. Vinton Avant guilty of dereliction of duty and failure to obey an order. He could have sentenced Avant to as much as 15 years in prison and dismissed him from the service.

Avant's attorney had argued that Avant's career as a Marine officer effectively over without the conviction.

Graveyard stakeout related in Ramsey case

■ ONEOK, Okla. — One of the former lead investigators in the northeast Ramsey case who's double homicide trial stalled out after his murder was placed a telephone and hidden cameras.

The Marine had only the Osprey to blame for the accident, according to the man who planned the run that crashed, and are based at the Marine Corps Air Station in Yuma, where the flight originated.

U.S. warplanes bomb Iraqi air defenses

■ AMARILLO, Texas — U.S. warplanes launched an Iraqi air defense system after Iraqi forces fired artillery during a patrol of the no-fly zone over northern Iraq, officials said.

The long-range Delta II aerial artillery from atop aircraft of the 1st Battalion, 15th Artillery, 1st Cavalry Division, destroyed a mobile command post used by the military.

Military planners say the aircraft will now get more flights to target and picket Iraqi air defense sites and enhancing drug interdiction operations.

Never Clean Your Gutters Again!

45 % OFF

Offer Expires April 23, 2000

Call Now... FREE

Offer Expires April 23, 2000

10 Years of Professional Service

Covering Central Indiana

800-543-5638

Antiques & More

& Fine Furniture Gallery

Solid oak - curved glass China Cabinet

Now On Sale For $125.00

$10 OFF with this coupon (Expires 4/16/00)

3440 N. Shadeland Ave. • 542-8526

Stuffed Chicken Breast

At the price bring a friend

$5.95-$2.99

MCL

390

Fig. 3t

394

Crash raises safety questions about Marines' new aircraft

By Michelle Riebold
Associated Press

MARANA, Ariz. — A Marine Corps aircraft attempting to land during a night flight had both engines cut off and falling to a rickety harness for nearly 10 minutes before the aircraft taxied off and had to be hoisted.

The MV-22 Osprey, which looks like a giant helicopter, is part of a new generation of aircraft it is believed to eventually replace the Chinook and other heavy-lift transport helicopters. The passengers were 14 Marines, two sailors and three Marines based at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and one from Marine Corps Air Station Yuma, located in La Paz County, according to the Marine Corps. None of the victims was killed.

On Sunday, investigators were examining the crash site at Marana Northwest Regional Airport, northwest of Tucson. Few details were released.

Capt. Gord Ward, who lives about five miles from the airport, said he watched the plane fly by from his porch. It disengaged behind a mountain, and he heard a "bang."

"I saw the smoke and the big old poof," she said.

The plane then landed, "but skidded the sky," she said. A lump of twisted, charred metal was visible in the snow, and several loose wires were scattered over a patch on the carpeted ground.

Witnesses reported hearing a loud noise, but had no time to stop and fly to land at the airport when a crash landed. It was one of two Chinooks that had been flying in the same time frame, similar to what Marines would do if they were removed from the flight deck or restricted in a specific country.

The mission was conducted with night vision goggles and infrared cameras and radars.

Firefighters and witnesses re-

19 die in crash

An MV-22 Osprey crashed in eastern Arizona Saturday night, killing 19 Marines.

Marine Lt. Mark Carter, spokesman for the Marine Corps Air Station in Yuma, where the flight originated, said:

"The aircraft was again taking passengers back to the Marine Corps base when it descended into a debris field in the mountains." The crash is again raising questions about the safety of the aircraft, which has been involved in a decade in the making.

President George Bush addressed the safety concerns of the project after it was widely criticized, but told reporters his administration had no role in the decision to fly the Osprey fighter jet under.

The Marine Corps lists nine other aircraft that have been lost in the aircraft's development. One, in 1991 in Nevada, was blamed on

Marine Capt. Gord Ward, who lives about five miles from the airport, said he watched the plane fly by from his porch. It disengaged behind a mountain, and he heard a "bang."

"I saw the smoke and the big old poof," she said.

The plane then landed, "but skidded the sky," she said. A lump of twisted, charred metal was visible in the snow, and several loose wires were scattered over a patch on the carpeted ground.

Witnesses reported hearing a loud noise, but had no time to stop and fly to land at the airport when a crash landed. It was one of two Chinooks that had been flying in the same time frame, similar to what Marines would do if they were removed from the flight deck or restricted in a specific country.

The mission was conducted with night vision goggles and infrared cameras and radars.

Firefighters and witnesses re-

Atmospheric Workers investigate the crash scene of a Marine Corps MV-22 Osprey at Marana Northwest Regional Airport, northwest of Tucson, Ariz. The crash occurred Saturday night.

Judge reprimands Marine convicted in March death

■ CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. — A Marine captain convicted of charges stemming from the heat-related death of a recruit was reprimanded Saturday and ordered to forfeit $5,000 in pay.

A military judge, Lt. Col. Ralph Kishimoto, found Capt. Vinton Avant guilty of dereliction of duty and failure to obey an order. He could have sentenced Avant to as much as 15 years in prison and dismissed him from the service.

Avant's attorney had argued that Avant's career as a Marine officer effectively over without the conviction.

Graveyard stakeout related in Ramsey case

■ ONEOK, Okla. — One of the former lead investigators in the northeast Ramsey case who's double homicide trial stalled out after his murder was placed a telephone and hidden cameras.

The Marine had only the Osprey to blame for the accident, according to the man who planned the run that crashed, and are based at the Marine Corps Air Station in Yuma, where the flight originated.

U.S. warplanes bomb Iraqi air defenses

■ AMARILLO, Texas — U.S. warplanes launched an Iraqi air defense system after Iraqi forces fired artillery during a patrol of the no-fly zone over northern Iraq, officials said.

The long-range Delta II aerial artillery from atop aircraft of the 1st Battalion, 15th Artillery, 1st Cavalry Division, destroyed a mobile command post used by the military.

Military planners say the aircraft will now get more flights to target and picket Iraqi air defense sites and enhancing drug interdiction operations.

Never Clean Your Gutters Again!

45 % OFF

Offer Expires April 23, 2000

Call Now... FREE

Offer Expires April 23, 2000

10 Years of Professional Service

Covering Central Indiana

800-543-5638

Antiques & More

& Fine Furniture Gallery

Solid oak - curved glass China Cabinet

Now On Sale For $125.00

$10 OFF with this coupon (Expires 4/16/00)

3440 N. Shadeland Ave. • 542-8526

Stuffed Chicken Breast

At the price bring a friend

$5.95-$2.99

MCL

392

Fig. 3u

000000000000000000000000

398

400

402

396

Fig. 3v

411

398

404

Fig. 3w

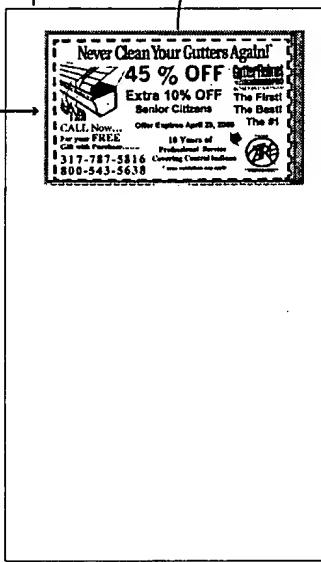

09690367-104600

411

398

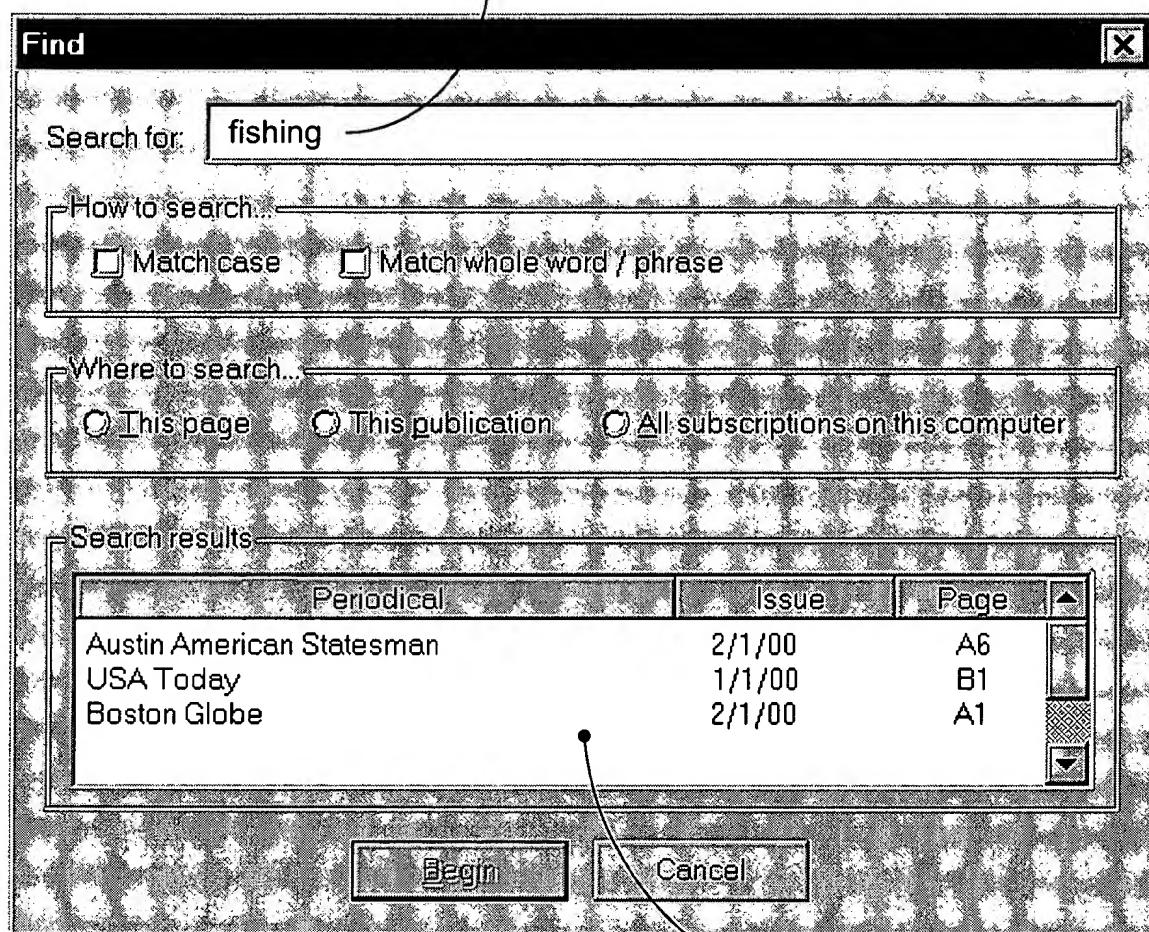

412

408

Fig. 3x

422

420

424

Fig. 3y

0 9 6 9 0 3 5 2 - 1 0 0 6 0 0

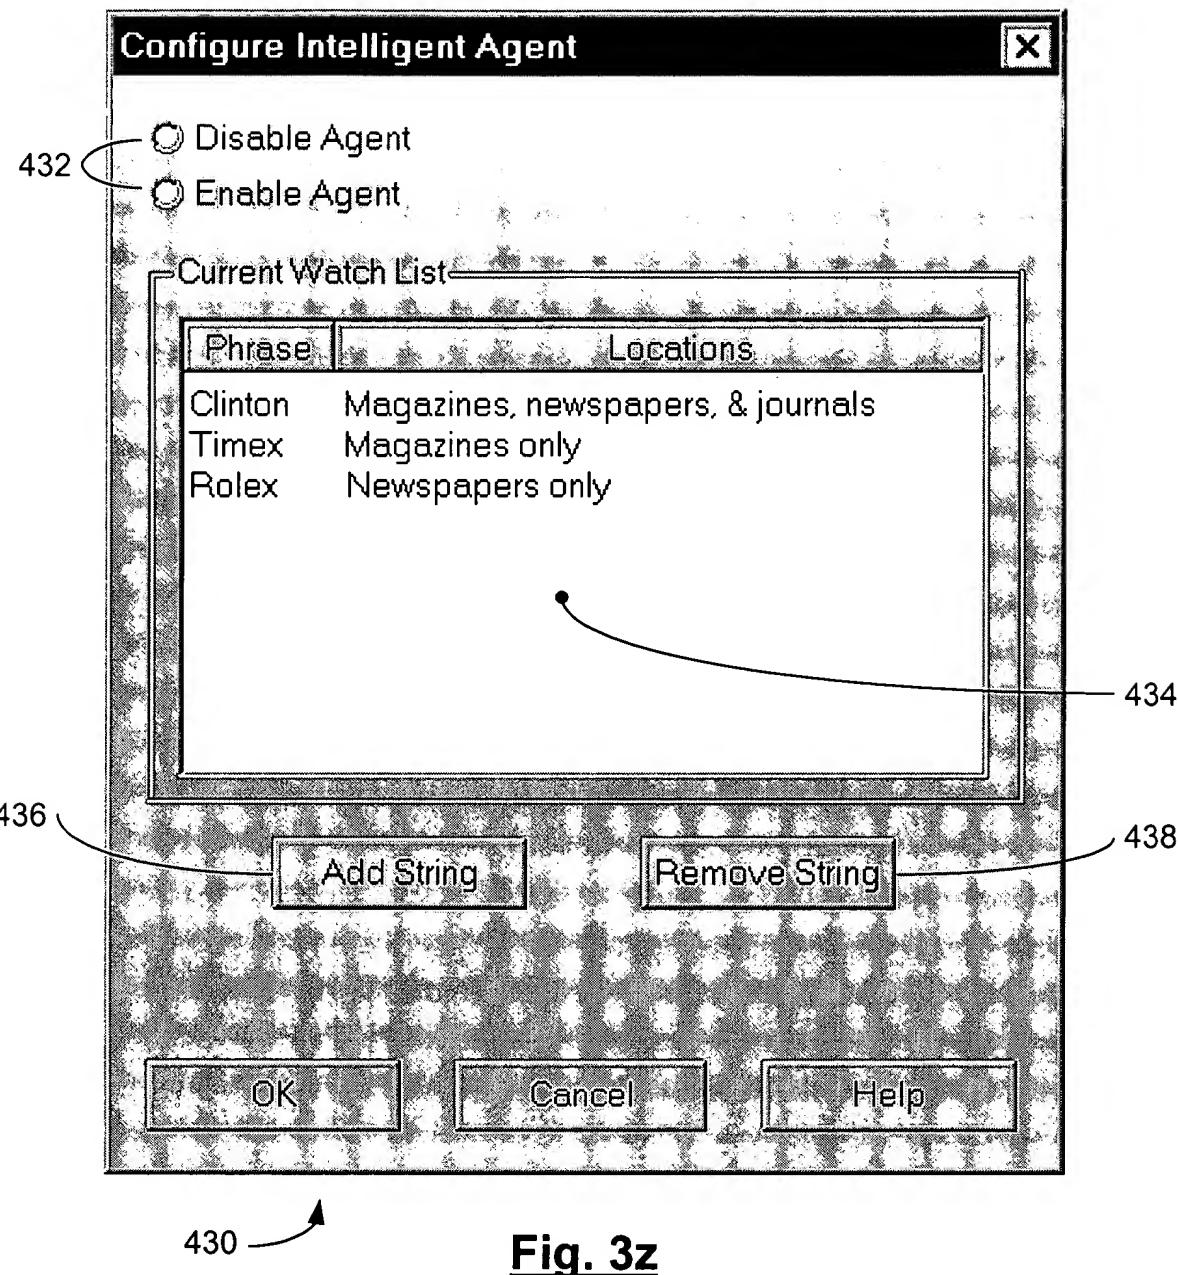

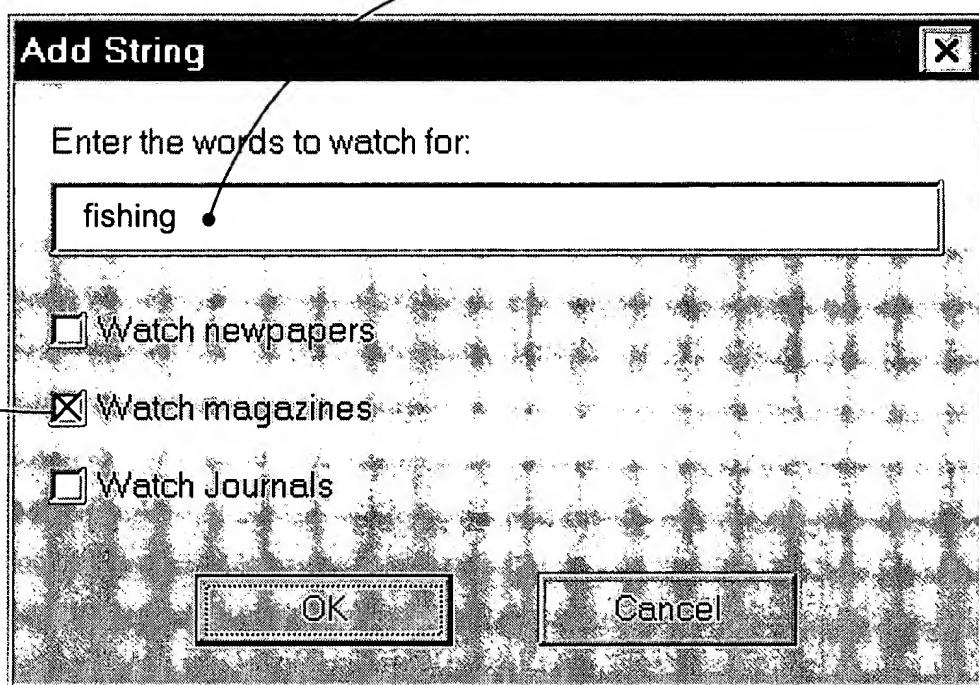

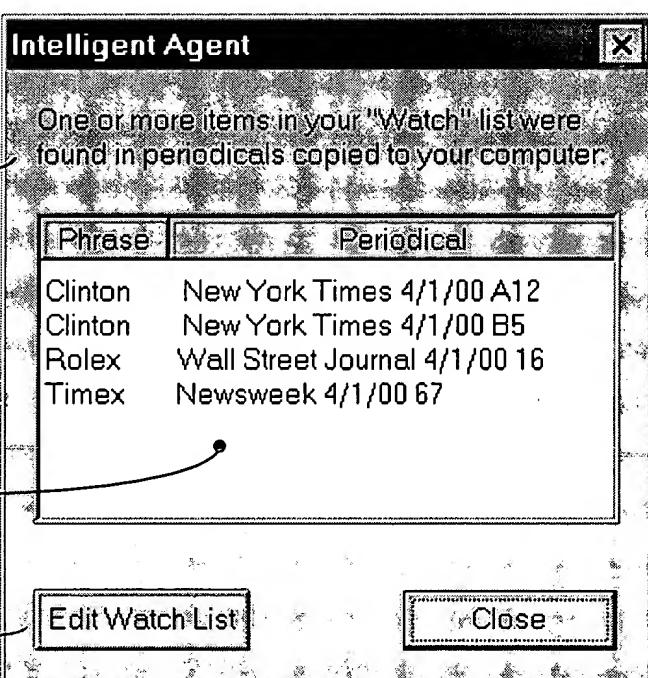

Fig. 3z

442

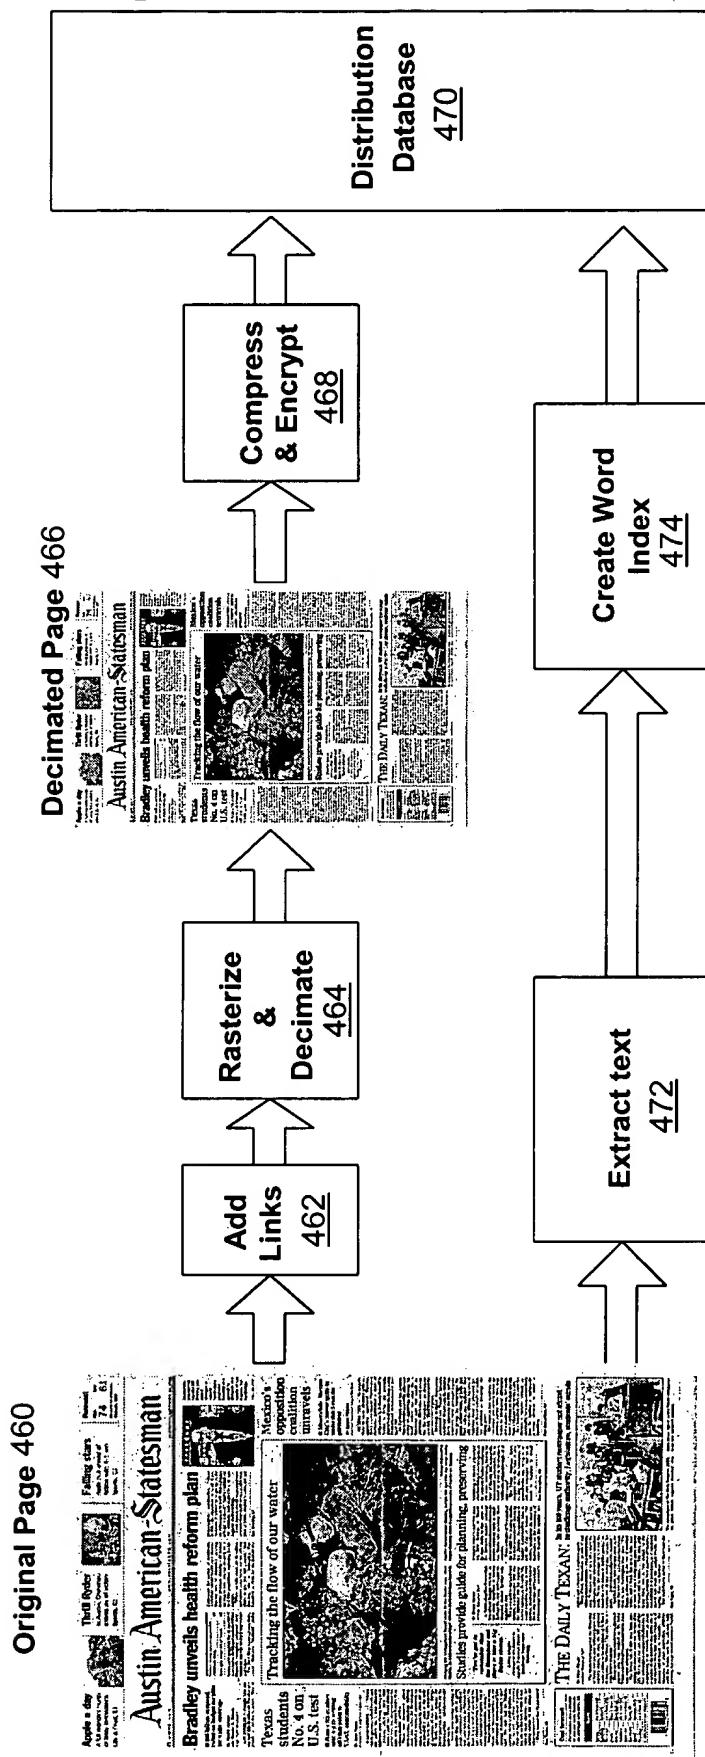

444

Fig. 3aa

446

Fig. 3bb

Fig. 4

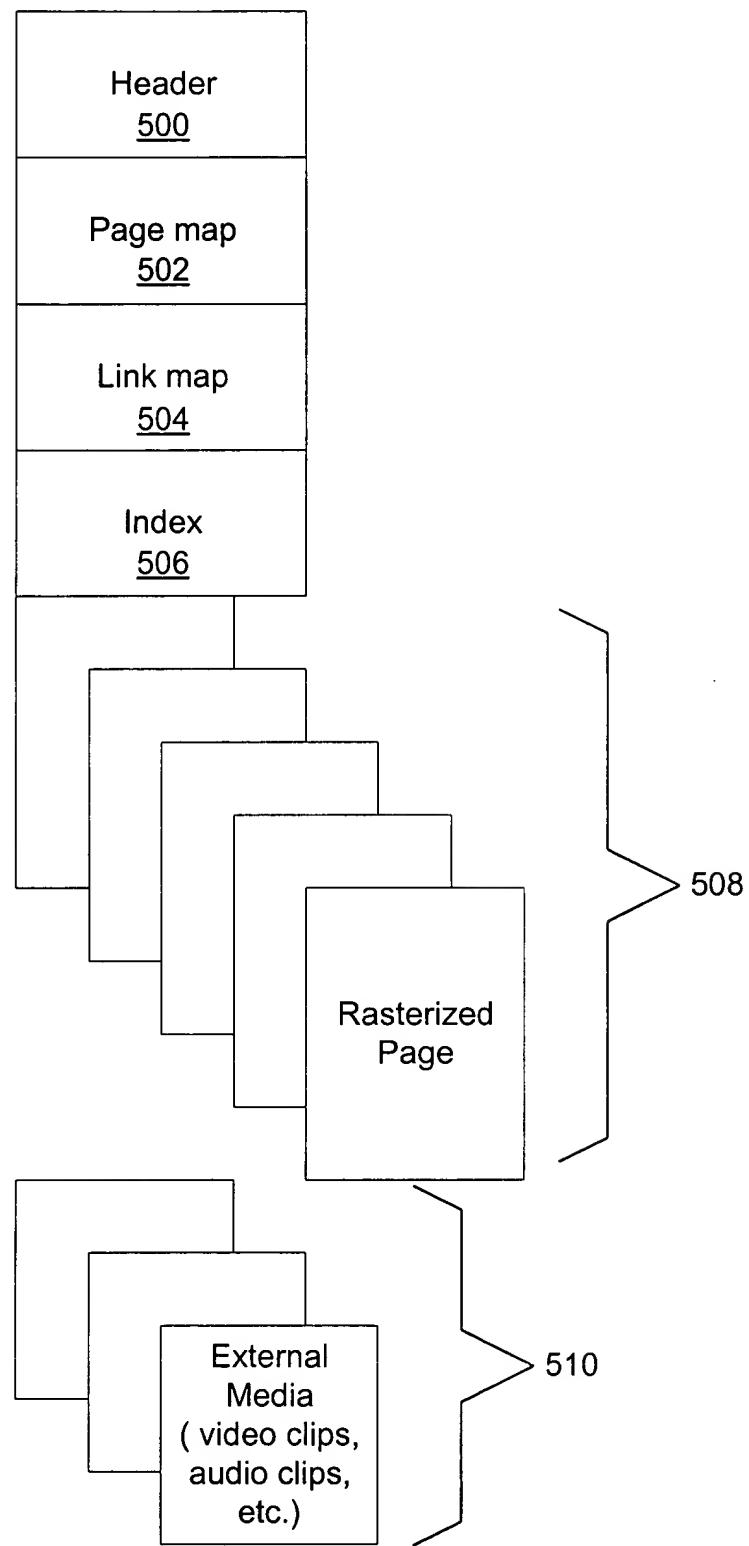

Fig. 5

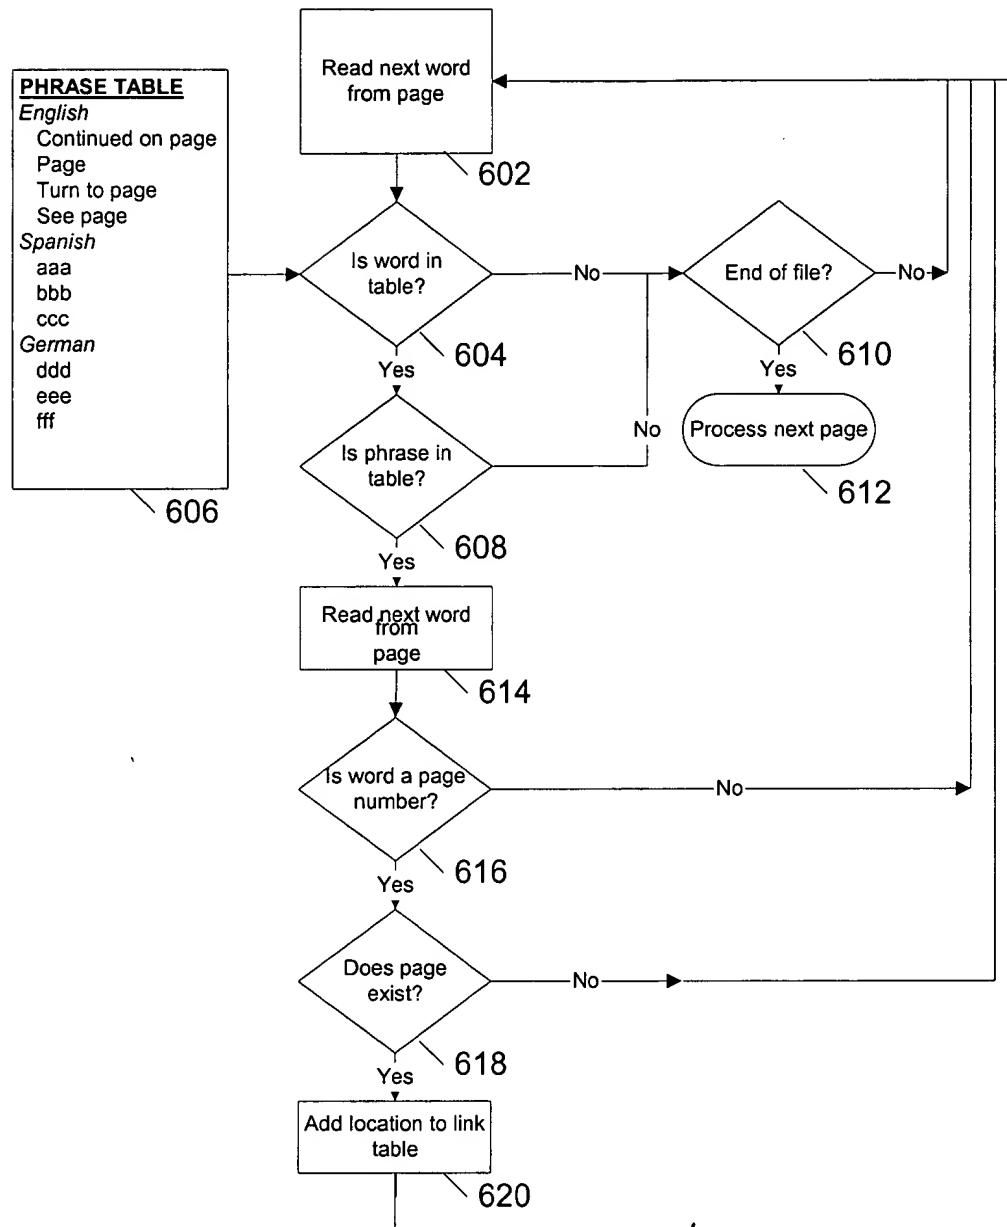

Fig. 6

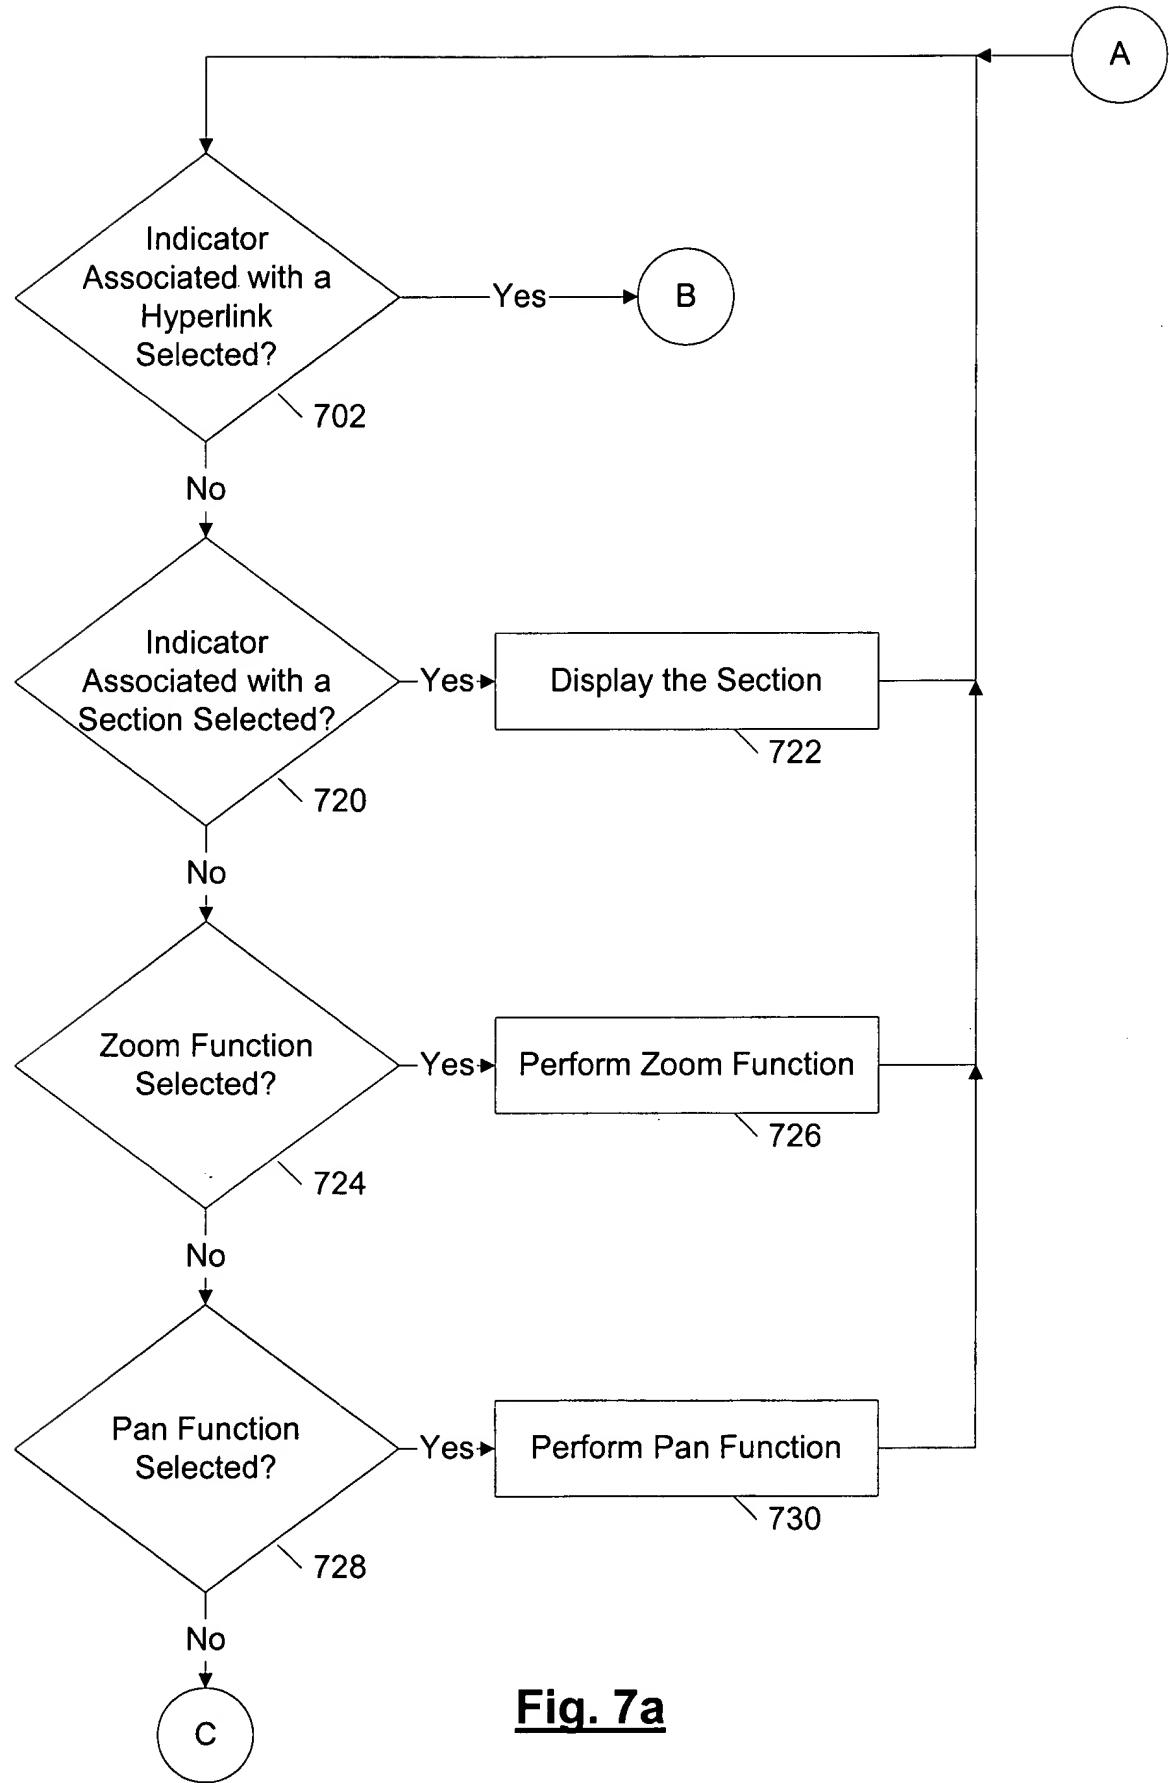

Fig. 7a

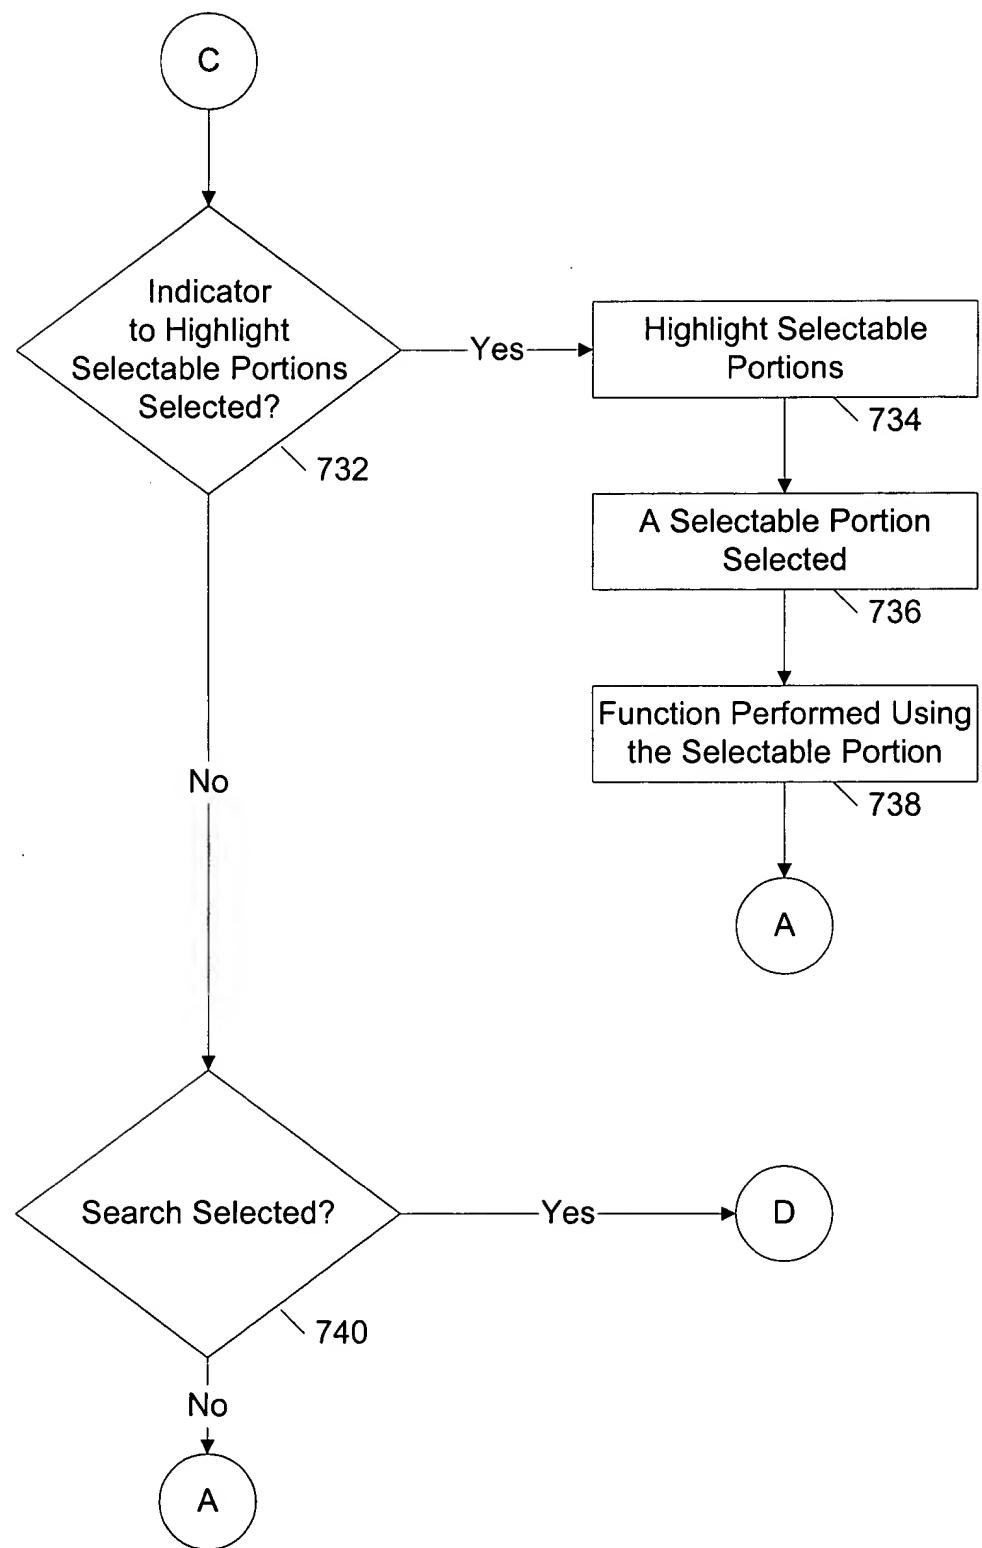

Fig. 7b

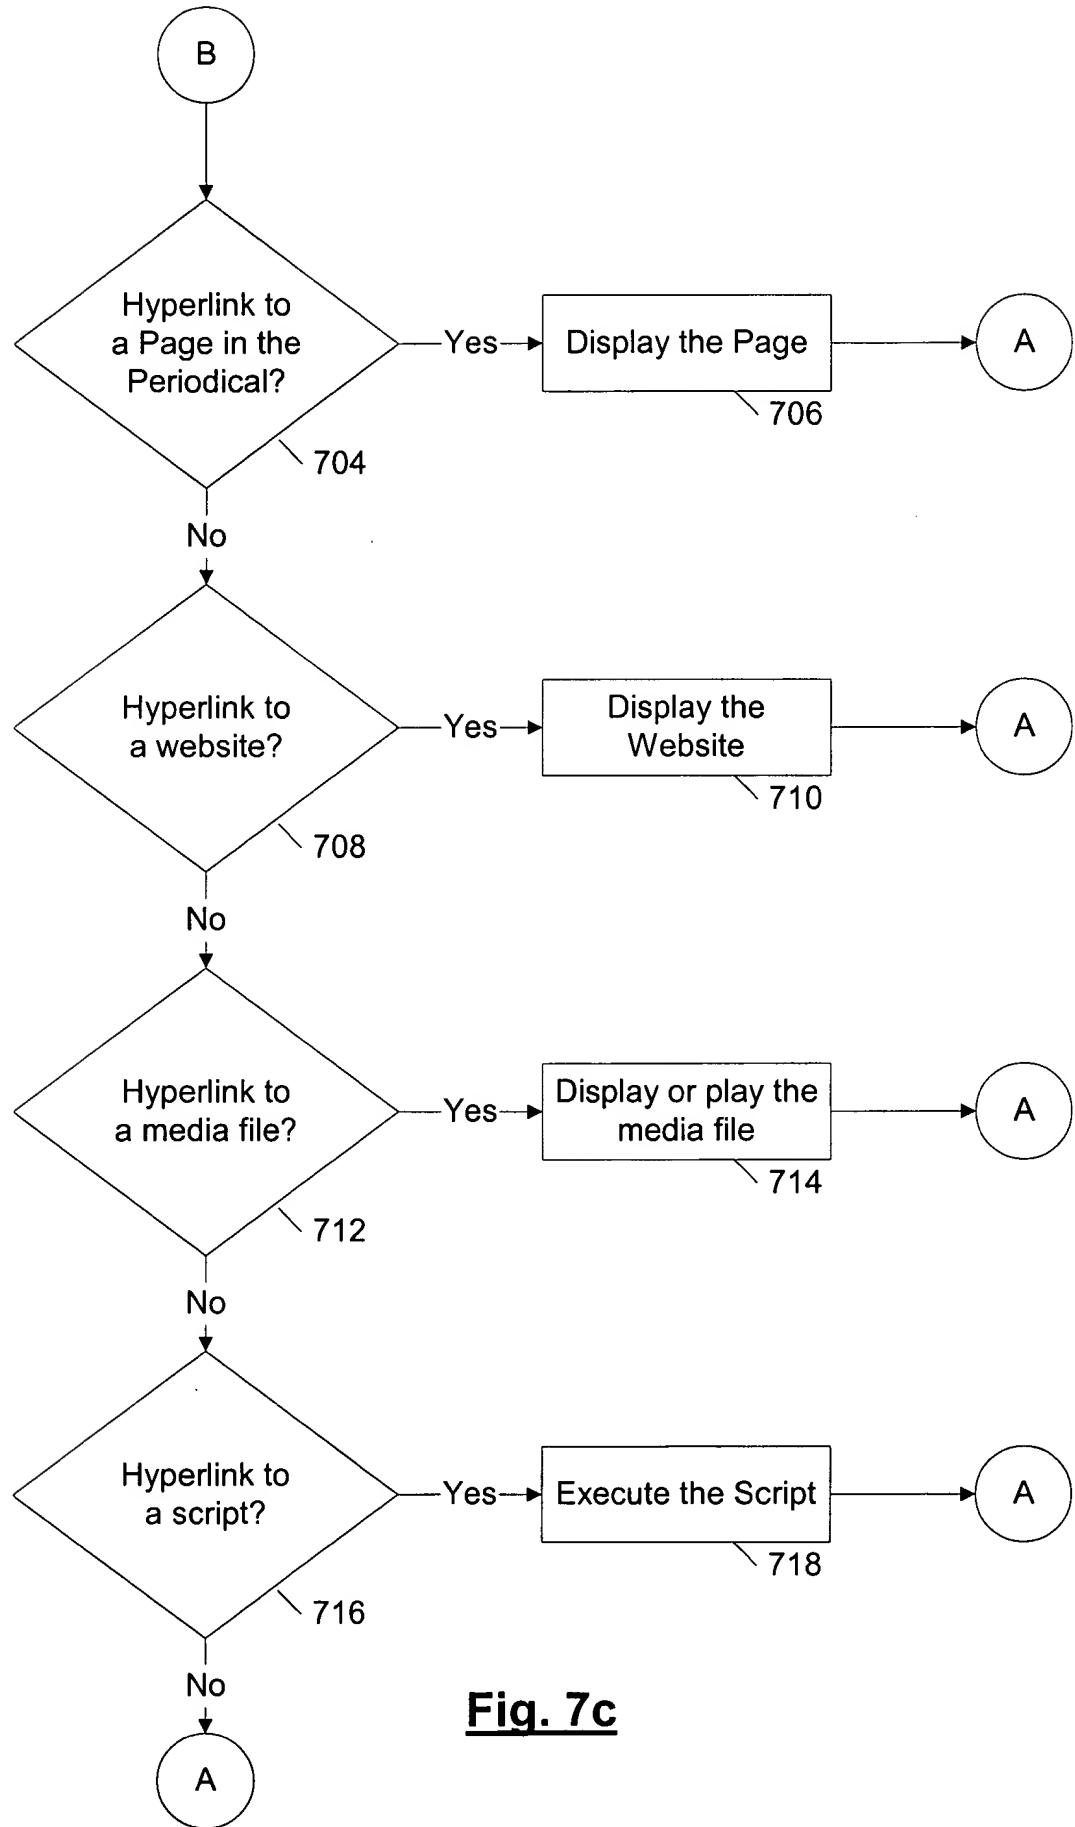

Fig. 7c

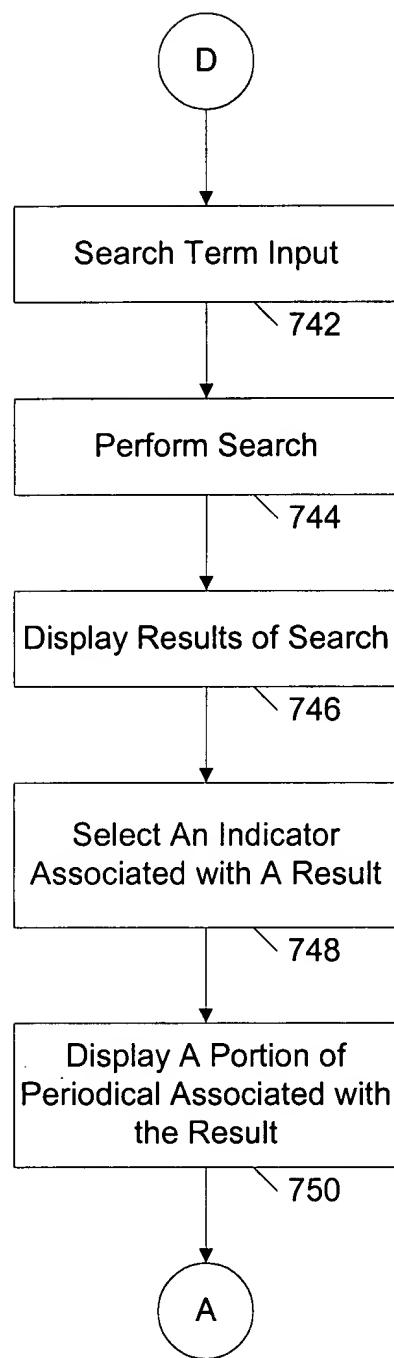

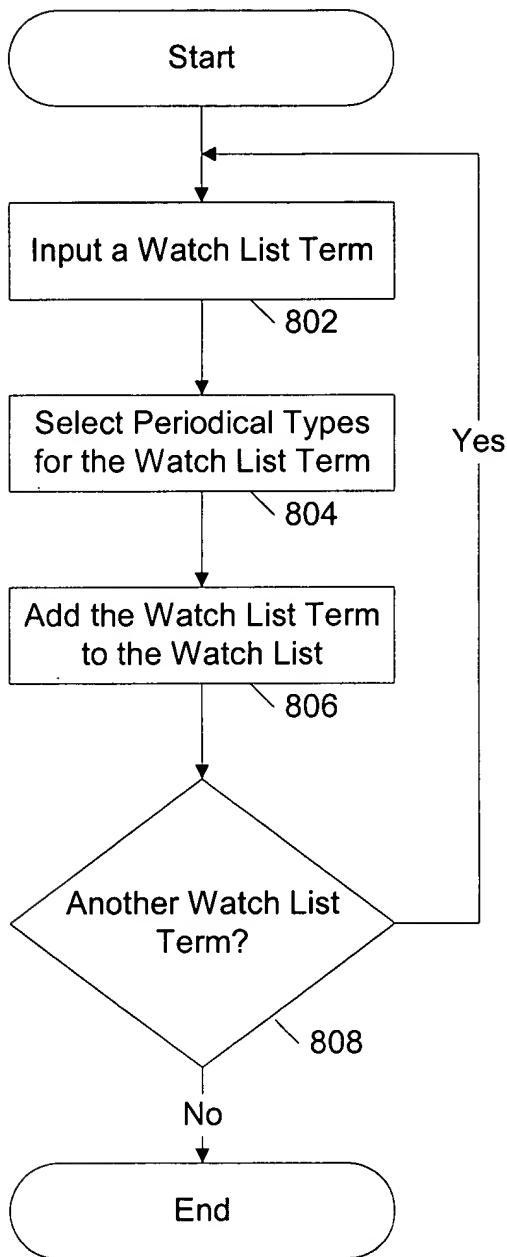

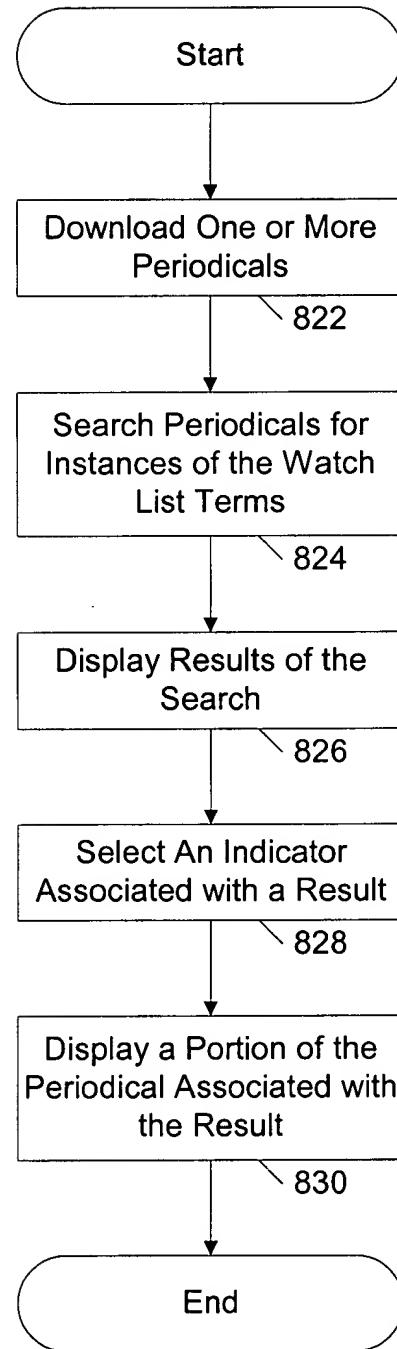

Fig. 7d

Fig. 8a*Fig. 8b